

ST 13-0050-GIL 09/11/2013 SALE FOR RESALE

This letter addresses sales for resale. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1405. (This is a GIL.)

September 11, 2013

Dear Xxxxx:

This letter is in response to your letter dated December 12, 2012, in which you request information. The Department issues two types of letter rulings. Private Letter Rulings (“PLRs”) are issued by the Department in response to specific taxpayer inquiries concerning the application of a tax statute or rule to a particular fact situation. A PLR is binding on the Department, but only as to the taxpayer who is the subject of the request for ruling and only to the extent the facts recited in the PLR are correct and complete. Persons seeking PLRs must comply with the procedures for PLRs found in the Department’s regulations at 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.110. The purpose of a General Information Letter (“GIL”) is to direct taxpayers to Department regulations or other sources of information regarding the topic about which they have inquired. A GIL is not a statement of Department policy and is not binding on the Department. See 2 Ill. Adm. Code 1200.120. You may access our website at www.tax.illinois.gov to review regulations, letter rulings and other types of information relevant to your inquiry.

The nature of your inquiry and the information you have provided require that we respond with a GIL. In your letter you have stated and made inquiry as follows:

By way of introduction I am the attorney for the above referenced COMPANY the sole member/manager PERSON. COMPANY designs and produces display packaging as a reseller. In 2011 COMPANY for various components for the display production, intended for resale, from a third party Seller. My client and the Seller are currently involved in litigation over the sales tax related to the purchase of said goods.

Although my client provided a CRT-61 Certificate of Resale to the Seller in late 2011, the Seller is claiming that registration number provided was not valid because the registration number is actually in the name of the sole owner and manager of COMPANY, PERSON, as opposed to being in the name of COMPANY itself.

To me, although a difference does technically exist, the difference is without distinction and the Certificate Number provided should have sufficed for sales tax exclusion purposes. Based on the proposed lack of a registration number, the Seller claims to have voluntarily paid the sales tax to the Department of Revenue; to the best of my knowledge, the Department of Revenue did not ask the Seller to pay such tax.

I kindly ask that some direction on this issue be provided by your office. Specifically, I would like to know whether a registration number provided to the sole owner and member of an LLC can be sued [sic] for purchases made by such LLC itself.

I thank you in advance for your consideration.

DEPARTMENT'S RESPONSE:

The Illinois Retailers' Occupation Tax Act imposes a tax upon persons engaged in this State in the business of selling tangible personal property to purchasers for use or consumption. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.101. The tax is measured by the seller's gross receipts from retail sales made in the course of such business. "Gross receipts" means the total selling price or the amount of such sales. The retailer must pay Retailers' Occupation Tax to the Department based upon its gross receipts, or actual amount received, from the sale of the tangible personal property.

In Illinois, Use Tax is imposed on the privilege of using, in this State, any kind of tangible personal property that is purchased anywhere at retail from a retailer. See 35 ILCS 105/3; 86 Ill. Adm. Code 150.101. These taxes comprise what is commonly known as "sales" tax in Illinois. If the purchases occur in Illinois, the purchasers must pay the Use Tax to the retailer at the time of purchase. The retailers are then allowed to retain the amount of Use Tax paid to reimburse themselves for their Retailers' Occupation Tax liability incurred on those sales. If the retailer does not collect the Use Tax from the purchaser for remittance to the Department, the purchaser is responsible for remitting the Use Tax directly to the Department. See 86 Ill. Adm. Code 150.130.

When an Illinois retailer sells tangible personal property and delivers it in Illinois, sales tax is due unless an exemption can be documented. The resale exemption is applicable when making sales to a purchaser who will in turn sell the tangible personal property. For general information regarding resale certificates, the Department's regulation for resale certificates, "Seller's Responsibility to Obtain Certificates of Resale and Requirements for Certificates of Resale," is found at 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1405. If an electronic resale certificate is kept, it should contain all of the information required under 86 Ill. Adm. Code 130.1405.

A Certificate of Resale is a statement signed by the purchaser that the property purchased by him is purchased for purposes of resale. Provided that this statement is correct, the Department will accept Certificates of Resale as prima facie proof that sales covered thereby were made for resale. In addition to the statement, a Certificate of Resale must contain:

- 1) The seller's name and address;
- 2) the purchaser's name and address;

- 3) a description of the items being purchased for resale;
- 4) purchaser's signature, or the signature of an authorized employee or agent of the purchaser, and date of signing;
- 5) Registration Number, Resale Number, or Certification of Resale to out-of-State Purchaser.

Failure to present an active registration number or resale number and a certification to the seller that a sale is for resale creates a presumption that a sale is not for resale. This presumption may be rebutted by other evidence that all of the seller's sales are sales for resale, or that a particular sale is a sale for resale. For example, other evidence that might be used to document a sale for resale, when a registration number or resale number and certification to the seller are not provided, could include an invoice from the purchaser to his customer showing that the item was actually resold, along with a statement from the purchaser explaining why it had not obtained a resale number and certifying that the purchase was a purchase for resale in Illinois. The risk run by companies in accepting such a certification and the risk run by purchasers in providing such a certification is that an Illinois auditor is more likely to go behind a certificate of resale that does not contain a signature and require that more information be provided as evidence that the particular sale was, in fact, a sale for resale.

I hope this information is helpful. If you require additional information, please visit our website at www.tax.illinois.gov or contact the Department's Taxpayer Information Division at (217) 782-3336.

Very truly yours,

Samuel J. Moore
